Well another weekend of Arbor Daze has passed us by. Fortunately the weekend was uneventful from a security standpoint, and I hope that the booths that were run by the Alumni Associations were successful.

May 20th for the Alumni Association, I have Paul Lake from Search One Rescue Team to come in and give a presentation. Search One Rescue Team is a volunteer organization that assists area police departments in locating lost or missing people. They use trained canines to assist in their endeavors.

I was a part of the team from 1994 to 1999. This is a fine organization and I believe you will find the services they provide to very interesting. Many of the members I served with on that organization have become a part of Texas Task Force One, which is a disaster response team based out of Texas A&M. A former graduate of the Eules Citizen's Police Academy, Patrick Gilliland, was a member of Search One and the Texas Task Force. He took is disaster dog and assisted at Ground Zero.

I'm also in the process of trying to coordinate some joint training with Search One and CERT. In the event of a search and rescue effort, there is a possibility that CERT members could be working hand in hand with Search One.

From the President

By Denise F. Miles

The second week of this month is designated Police Appreciation Week. Don't get me wrong, I am glad the policing profession receives national acclaim, but really shouldn't we appreciate police every single day?

Because of police, I can wake up every morning to a home with the exact same possessions it had in it when I went to bed the night before. I can drive to work in my car that was safely parked in my driveway all night. On the way to work, I know that the man who speeds through the school zone will be caught and reprimanded before he hits a kid. And if the traffic lights are broken, rest assured a police officer will direct the traffic to maintain order. After work I can shop at Target knowing there will be no chaos and theft because the law is in control. And I can be sure that if for some reason in the evening I have to emergently dial 911, an officer would be at my front door in a heartbeat.

Every day of my life I am thankful that young men and women choose the career of protecting and serving others. Every second of every day an officer of the law is on duty so that I can sleep, wake, work, cook, clean, and exercise in my neighborhood safely. So the way I see it, every week should be police appreciation week.

THE BRICK

A story passed on from Chief Brown...

A young and successful executive was traveling down a neighborhood street, going a bit too fast in his new Jaguar. He was watching for kids darting out from between parked cars and slowed down when he thought he saw something. As his car passed, no children appeared. Instead, a brick smashed into the Jag's side door!

He slammed on the brakes and backed the Jag back to the spot where the brick had been thrown. The angry driver then jumped out of the car, grabbed the nearest kid and pushed him up against a parked car shouting, "What was that all about and who are you? Just what the heck are you doing? That's a new car and that brick you threw is going to cost a lot of money. Why did you do it?"

The young boy was apologetic. "Please, mister...please, I'm sorry but I didn't know what else to do," he pleaded. "I threw the brick because no one else would stop..." With tears dripping down his face and off his chin, the youth pointed to a spot just around a parked car. "It's my brother," he said, "he rolled off the curb and fell out of his wheelchair and I can't lift him up."

Now sobbing, the boy asked the stunned executive, "Would you please help me get him back into his wheelchair? He's hurt and he's too heavy for me."

Moved beyond words, the driver tried to swallow the rapidly swelling lump in his throat. He hurriedly lifted the handicapped boy back into the wheelchair, then took out a linen handkerchief and dabbed at the fresh scrapes and cuts. A quick look told him everything was going to be okay. "Thank you and may God bless you," the grateful child told the stranger. Too shook up for words, the man simply watched the boy push his wheelchair-bound brother down the sidewalk toward their home.

It was a long, slow walk back to the Jaguar. The damage was very noticeable, but the driver never bothered to repair the dented side door. He kept the dent there to remind him of this message: "Don't go through life so fast that someone has to throw a brick at you to get your attention!" God whispers in our souls and speaks to our hearts. Sometimes when we don't have time to listen, He has to throw a brick at us. It's our choice to listen or not.

Congratulations to Sonny Sizemore and John Woodall who were named ECPAAA Volunteers of the Year at the Police Awards Banquet. Sonny and John together volunteered nearly 2,000 hours in 2007! The dynamic duo is at the police department almost every day, crushing cans, deploying the speed trailer on streets in the community and parking police vehicles near schools and businesses to deter criminal activity. Well done Sonny & John!
